Federal Financial Aid Loan Information

You must file a 2021-2022 FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) to be considered for federal aid. Please do not confuse this application with the 2022-2023 FAFSA which is also available on the FAFSA website. Most students who file a 2021-2022 FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) are eligible to receive federal direct unsubsidized loan funding each aid year. The maximum loan amount you can borrow per aid year is provided below. This loan does not require a credit check.

1st Aid Year: Spring 2022

Spring	6	$10,200	-	$19,500	=	-$9,300
*Negative numbers represent a refund of the difference to the student. Refunds are meant to be used by the student to cover the additional indirect costs included in the estimated cost of attendance (COA). Please visit our COA webpage for more information. This would help you cover items such as books & supplies, room & board, transportation, and personal expenses.

When your financial aid year renews in the summer, your federal direct unsubsidized loan will be split equally between summer, fall, winter, and spring, resulting in approximately $5,071 per term after the loan fee, and a balance each term. Please see the estimates below:

Subsequent Aid Years

Summer	6	$10,200	-	$5,071	=	$5,129
Fall	6	$10,200	-	$5,071	=	$5,129
Winter	6	$10,200	-	$5,071	=	$5,129
Spring	6	$10,200	-	$5,071	=	$5,129
Total	24	$40,800	-	$20,284	=	$20,516
*The cost/unit is anticipated to increase every subsequent academic year and is subject to an annual increase of 2-5% as determined by Pepperdine University's Board of Regents. Hence, your actual tuition for subsequent years will vary from the estimated tuition above.

If you are unable to pay the estimated balances out-of-pocket or you need additional loan funding to cover your costs (tuition or living expenses), the Federal Graduate Plus Loan and Private Loans are additional loan options that require credit approval. Please visit bit.ly/gsep-loans for more information. Students may use these loans annually to cover the additional indirect costs included in the estimated cost of attendance (COA) such as books & supplies, room & board, transportation, and personal expenses. Please visit our COA webpage for more information.

Reminders:

- Cost/unit is based on the 2021-2022 academic year. The cost/unit is anticipated to increase every subsequent academic year and is subject to an annual increase of 2-5% as determined by Pepperdine University's Board of Regents. Hence, your actual tuition for subsequent years will vary from the estimated tuition above. - If you used a portion of the federal direct unsubsidized loan in a previous institution within the same aid year, you will not receive the full $20,500 federal direct unsubsidized loan at Pepperdine for the remainder of the aid year.

- Books and supplies are not included in this estimate.
- The federal loan fee will change every academic year.
- The course sequence above assumes no courses are failed, dropped or withdrawn from, and no leave of absences are taken by the student.
